ABOUT OUR COVER

Hampstead truly has something to be proud of . . . The Town Hall Steeple and the Paul Revere, Jr. Bell.

The steeple, graceful in lines, was built by Colonel Thomas Reed and Abner Rogers about 1792 and is a replica of a steeple in Hingham, Mass. As part payment for their work, they subscribed for two pews in the Meeting House, now the Town Hall. The steeple is the only one of its design in the Granite State.

Hampstead can claim the possession of the second oldest public building in New Hampshire, 1745-1974, standing where it originally was erected and still in daily use.

Esq. Thomas Huse of West Newbury gave the historic Paul Revere, Jr., bell, the only one known to be in existence, to the Town of Hampstead in 1809 where for many years it was the only alarm system the Town had.

Today, the still melodious tones of the bell can be heard on the Fourth of July.

NOTICES

INVENTORIES are mandatory. They must be filed with the Selectmen on or before April 15th. Forms are distributed by mail. Please note that a description of the property which will enable the assessing officials to locate and identify each parcel is necessary. A phrase such as "Same as last year" or "no change" is not sufficient.

VETERANS should understand that it is their responsibility to request forms for tax exemption. The Blue card is a permanent record and must be filed only once. However, in order to receive the exemption each year, the Inventory must be filled in and the portion for the Veteran's Exemption checked, signed, and in the hands of the Selectmen before April 15th.

THE SELECTMEN will meet in their office in the Town Hall on the first Saturday of each month at 7:30 P.M. and also on the third Wednesday of each month at 7:30 P.M.

THE PLANNING BOARD — Regular meeting is the third Monday of every month at 8 P.M.

ELDERLY EXEMPTION BLANKS are mailed to persons who have received the exemption the previous year. For persons over 70 who think they may be eligible and who have not received the exemption before, blanks can be obtained from the Selectmen and returned by April 15th.

HOUSE BILL 661 STATE OF NEW HAMPSHIRE

Enacted June, 1973

AN ACT

providing for persons sixty-five years or older to apply for a tax lien on real estate.

72:38-a Tax Lien Available for Persons Over Sixty-five.

I. Any resident property owner who has attained the age of sixty-five years or older and who has owned his homestead for at least ten years, and who is currently residing in same, may apply to the selectmen of the town where the property is located, for certain relief, pursuant to this section, from the full payment of taxes due on said real estate.

II. The selectmen are authorized to grant a tax lien for a portion of the taxes due in lieu of the full payment thereof, plus interest at the lowest possible rate at which the town may borrow money; such a tax lien may be granted from time to time for up to eighty-five percent of the assessed value of the total estate.

III. Said tax lien shall be subject to any prior liens on the real estate and shall be treated as such in any foreclosure proceeding.

IV. Any mortgagee of such property must give the mortgagor prior approval to encumber the real estate with this type of tax lien; however, said approval, if granted, shall not be considered as granting to the town a preferential lien.

V. Upon the demise of the owner of such tax-encumbered property, the heirs, heirs-at-law, assignee or devisee shall have first priority to said estate by paying in full the tax lien plus any interest that may be due.

2 Effective Date. This act shall take effect sixty days after its passage.

ANALYSIS

This bill would permit persons sixty-five years or older, under certain conditions, to encumber their real estate with a tax lien, up to eighty-five percent of the assessed value of the property, in lieu of paying the full amount of the property tax due.

(Mrs.) JAYNE C. HALL
Town Clerk

New Hampshire citizens have been served by Town Clerks since the early towns and parishes were established in the Province of New Hampshire. When the government of the area was centralized in Boston under the New England Dominion, the town clerks were appointed by the judiciary. After 1699, the clerk was chosen by each town, and since 1804 the clerk has been chosen by ballot.

As the office of clerk has been evolving, it has been assigned many of the functions which it performs to this day. Early records indicate that the Town Clerk should keep a record of all "marriages, births and burials" in a journal for the town. Other key responsibilities which were first entrusted to the clerk concerned the keeping of voting records. In addition to making a record of votes and actions at town meetings, the clerk was responsible for keeping records of votes for county, state and national offices.

Other duties which the clerk had assumed by 1800 included administering oaths of office and allegiance, recording the names of all those sworn into any town office, drawing the names of jurors, (this was taken over last year by the Clerk of Courts in Exeter, N. H.), and maintaining records of selectmen's assessments and invoices, the sale of land for taxes, attachments, liens and mortgages.

Today, the town clerk has many duties which are directly related to those which have been assigned to the office through history. Acting as the center of information in towns, the clerk contributes substantially to the efficient operation of government. As she or he keeps records, prepares reports, issues permits and licenses, and acts as an election official in her or his town, the clerk is a key figure in the operation of New Hampshire town government.

In 1973, as a member of the New Hampshire City and Town Clerks' Association, I attended regional Town Clerks' meetings held in Exeter and Concord, N. H. The meetings were very informative due to the numerous changes that are always being made. I have tried to serve as your town clerk with consideration and humility. I am sorry if some of you were seemingly inconvenienced. I sincerely feel that the office hours have proven to be sensible and satisfactory. It is in all probability a matter of orientation and at no time will I refuse a constituent in case of a legitimate emergency. As the town has grown, so has the town clerks' duties.

I look forward to greater improvements in 1974, not only in public relations but in the establishing of a new office in the former High School Building. To the majority of townspeople who have cooperated in my struggle to have a minimum amount of privacy in our home, I thank you. I am deeply grateful to our Town Officials and the Selectmen's Secretary who have helped me in ways too numerous to mention. A special recognition is due to Mrs. C. Carelton Martin (Thelma), for her assistance in the town clerks office. Her help is very essential and I am sure there were times when I could not have accomplished the work efficiently without her.

(Mrs.) JAYNE C. HALL

REPORT OF POLICE DEPARTMENT

During the year 1973, this department investigated 39 motor vehicle accidents (a drop of 20% from previous year) which resulted in two serious injuries, several minor injuries and many hundreds of dollars in property damage; 8 reports of malicious damage; 1 unattended death; 2 missing persons; 3 stolen motor vehicles and 32 breaks. Four motor vehicles were recovered as well as many articles stolen in breaks. Grand Jury Indictments were received on four subjects and are now awaiting trial in Superior Court. A total of 57 cases were brought before the Plaistow District Court.

Business, home and camp breaks were again our most serious problem; therefore, once again we appeal to all of you for any help or information in reporting any and all suspicious activities which you might observe. Please call immediately, (day or night) not a few days later as has been the case in some instances.

Officers of this department spent a total of one hundred and ninety hours attending various Law Enforcement schools throughout the State. Topics covered included reports, police prosecutor, narcotics, firearms and a one week course concerning the new Criminal Code which was adopted by the state and went into affect November 1, 1973.

Once again the majority of our calls concern dogs running at large. The town leash law states that all dogs must be restrained twenty-four hours a day, seven days a week during the summer months and from 8 A.M. until 5 P.M. Monday through Friday the other nine months. Violators are subject to a fine of ten dollars for each offense. Also all dogs must be licensed (available from Town Clerk) before May 1 each year. We feel that these laws must be strictly adhered to, not only for your protection but for the safety of our children.

It is our hope that we may receive some funds from the Federal Crime Commission for extra patrol hours. If this request is granted we intend to schedule regular patrol hours throughout the summer months.

My sincere thanks and appreciation to all of my officers for their dedication and efforts, also special thanks to their wives for their understanding of numerous late suppers, missed appointments, sleepless nights and hours of worry that are all part of the job. To all residents, departments and town officials; without your cooperation our task would be much more difficult.

WILLIAM J. LETOILE, JR.
Chief of Police

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE FIRE DEPARTMENT

Your fire department has responded to 56 calls during 1973 as follows:

House	11	Car	7
Grass and woods	16	Resuscitator	2
Out of town	2	Miscellaneous	18

Calls to houses resulted in insurance losses of less than $20,000 and only one camp converted to year round use being totally destroyed.

The mutual assistance pact entered into on Jan. 20, 1972 continues in effect throughout 1973 and has resulted in a considerable insurance savings for the residents of East Hampstead as well as giving Hampstead and Sandown the benefits of increased fire protection. Additional insurance savings were realized by extending the lower insurance rate from the previous two miles from the fire houses to the current three miles.

Our training programs continue and a majority of our men now have had the basic training (40 hours) as well as ventilation and tactics courses (40 hours) offered by the state. Many men have attended special one and two day courses at Gilford and Fitzwilliam. First aid courses are now being offered.

We are continually endeavoring to update our equipment and working tools. During the year we acquired a 750 GPM pump for our 1500 Gallon tanker. This is now set up with a 2½" and two 1½" pre-connect lines, enabling us to get an adequate amount of water on a fire promptly. The approval of a new radio system will enable all firemen to receive via radio, an immediate notification of any emergency. Basically it's similar to the system used way back when Molly Davis was the telephone operator in town and sent out a special signal on the telephone party lines and alerted the men and advised the nature of the call.

The town is especially indebted to the firemen and red phone operators, who continue to serve the people of Hampstead. They are all unpaid volunteers.

Our thanks and appreciation go to the Police and Highway Departments and to all others who have assisted us during the past year.

REPORT OF THE CONSERVATION COMMISSION

The Commission meets on the first and third Tuesday of each month. Our purpose is to preserve the quaintness of Hampstead and protect her woodlands and wetlands while looking to the future needs of the town. The projects we are involved in meet this criteria and are briefly described in this report.

The Cedar Swamp Project is creeping along. Many of the deeds have been traced and a surveyor is working to establish the boundary lines along the northern section. A second wetland on the southern side of town, Sawmill Swamp, has been purchased. Monies for this were voted at the last town meeting. Now let's move to the drier ground of the Town Forest. At the urging of the County Forester, Stan Knowles, and with the permission of the Selectmen a Consulting Forester, Tom Neff, has been hired to supervise the selection of a logger to selective cut in the Forest. Mr. Neff will also draw up a long range woodlot management plan for us. Monies realized from the cutting will go into the town's General Fund.

A major concern of your Commission has been the replacement of trees lost to natural or man-made causes along the streets and roads in town. Three separate projects, Ordway Park, the Memorial Tree Fund, and the Tree Replacement Program are to keep Hampstead green. Ordway Park is planted with 2,200 seedlings, supplied by the State; when they are large enough they can be transplanted. These seedlings are being cared for by the Forestry Class at Pinkerton Academy. The Memorial Tree Fund is for the purchase of trees in the name of a deceased relative or friend. Donations are recorded by the Commission. The Tree Replacement Program has been supported by many organizations in town, the Fire Department, the School Board, the Scouts, and the Young Mothers. Large trees have been planted along the main streets. The planting was a community parade of adults, kids, a truck, a tractor, a firetruck for water, and several cars.

Scanning other conservation matters, two Scouts completed projects to earn their Eagle Scout rank. Stephen Bailey cleared unsightly brush and poison ivy from behind the Library. Vernon Dingman IV planned a picnic area for the side of Route 111, prepared the site and built a table and sign for it. A Fish and Game representative found evidence of the cottontail rabbit inhabiting Ordway Park. Ted Walski considers this an endangered species in New England and asked us to encourage its propagation.

In the future we will work with the School Board to the development of nature trails for the schoolchildren and outdoor classroom.

The Commission anticipates your continued support of these programs and would welcome your suggestions for new projects and help on old ones.

REPORT OF THE MANAGEMENT AND SANITARY LAND FILL STUDY COMMITTEE

During 1973 the sanitary fill face has been changed so that better use of the facility could be had. Some bulldozer work has been completed on the "Hill" to provide fill. At present bids are being sought for the cutting of trees and removal of them by April 1st from that same hill. It is expected that this clearing should provide better protection from fire carried by wind.

We have had three fires out of control due to wind. Two of these caused some acreage in the woods to ignite but damage was held to a minimum by our firemen.

We are permitted to burn the refuse until July 1975. This burning reduces the trash to approximately one fifth of its original volume. We feel the present site and for that matter most potential sites are inadequate to provide satisfactory implementation of Sanitary Land Fill without burning. Some solution will be required by July 1975.

The committee regrets the resignation of Richard M. Burnside, his contribution of ideas will be missed.

Respectfully submitted,
NEIL EMERSON

LIBRARIAN'S REPORT FOR 1973

The Library has shown a remarkable increase in circulation the past eleven months. Due to a new state law, the year has to be ended earlier. The gain over last year is 1,986, with another month to go.

There have been a lot of new books added to the Library. Mr. Scovel has bought many of the Time-Life books, and books from the National Geographics, which are most interesting. A few books have come from the Yankee Magazine and the Newsweek collections.

A new Encyclopedia, Americana International, Edition 1972, has been added to the Library. The Americana articles communicate to a wide range of readers. The young student is able to find the information he is seeking, and to understand what he reads. This is very well illustrated also.

A new collection of Library Science books were bought for the younger children. They are called, "The How and Why Wonder Books of Beginning Science." They give a very good description about basic ideas of science.

Most of the children are prompt in returning books on time, but I would appreciate the co-operation of the parents for those who are negligent in this matter.

Seven new Memorial books have been added to our list, and four of these were for the Children's room. We certainly do appreciate these donations. A very large sum of money has been realized from the donations given in memory of Mrs. Marjorie Kirkness, and as they are still coming in, it has not been decided just what will be done with the money.

I would like to pay tribute to Mrs. Kirkness, who gave so much of her time for the Library. Even with her failing health, she worked long and untiringly in that capacity for the work she loved, right up to her untimely death. She always walked the Helper's Road, and always with a smile. Her loyal and unselfish service will long be remembered and her kindly and efficient manner won the love and respect of all. May her memory be an inspiration to all who knew her and now, "She has entered the Heavens above, and there beneath the smiles of the Master, she will finish the labor of love."

The Trustees have had the young people's room re-recorded and new book cases added, making room for the encyclopedias to be found in one place.

Books are being taken to shut-ins. Talking books are available at the State Library, and any books not found in our library can usually be obtained from the State Library. Just call 329-6411 if you wish for any of these services.

To all donors of books, magazines, and paper backs, I extend my appreciation and a special "thank you" to Mrs. Alice Brown, who donates her new best sellers as soon as she reads them.

I wish to express my appreciation to all those who have volunteered their services in the Library. My special thanks to Mrs. Brough and Mrs. Malsbenden who help to file cards, paste in pockets and put plastic covers on all the new books. My sincere thanks to all the children who want to help in the Library, and the little six-year-old, Jeffrey Currier, who most always asks, "Anything I can do for you, Mrs. Garland?" I certainly do appreciate the thoughtfulness of these children.

Mrs. Clark and her co-workers had their usual success at the Hollyhock Shop this past year. Mrs. Clark who is an avid worker, shows much enthusiasm in the shop and is making plans on opening again this summer, providing a place is made available. We all extend many thanks to her and her co-workers for the wonderful work she is doing.

Mrs. Donald Piehl, Art teacher at the Central School has donated much of her time in keeping an art exhibit in the Library, the work being done by her pupils. During International Library Week in April, an extra large exhibit was on display. Parents, do come in and see the fine work your children are doing, and you will be as enthused as those who have seen them. I express many thanks to Mrs. Piehl for giving so much of her time in changing the exhibits every few weeks.

To the Trustees, I express my appreciation for selecting such fine books and thanks to Miss Mildred Emerson for furnishing transportation to the State Library meetings.

Library hours are 2 - 7 Tuesday, 2 - 9 Thursday, and 10 - 5 Saturday.

Respectfully submitted,

HAZEL K. GARLAND, Librarian

REPORT OF THE PLANNING BOARD

The town of Hampstead has grown rapidly, as have most southern New Hampshire communities over the last 10-15 years. In 1960, Hampstead had a population of 1,261 persons whereas in 1970 that population was 2,401, a jump of 90%! These population figures were compiled by the U.S. Bureau of the Census.

Less accurate, but nevertheless indicative population counts are conducted each year by the New Hampshire Office of Comprehensive Planning. Since 1970, Hampstead's population, as compiled by the state, has grown from 2643 in 1971, to 2,861 in 1972 and 3,080 in 1973. In part, these figures indicate guestimates based on growth trends, but despite doubt as to their absolute statistical accuracy, those figures are subscribed to by the town and the state as reasonably accurate.

In the last 3 years then, Hampstead's population has increased by approximately 680 people or by 28%. This represents an annual growth of about 200 new residents or a nearly 10% annual increase in the size of the town. While in absolute numbers this rate of growth may seem modest, it nevertheless represents relatively a substantial increase for the town of Hampstead each year.

By way of comparison, the national growth rate was about 1.3% annually between 1960 and 1970, and has subsequently dropped to about .96% between 1970 and 1973. The state of New Hampshire, in contrast, had an annual rate of growth of about 2.15% between 1960 and 1970, climbing to about 2.20% between 1970 and 1973. National and statewide trends are clear.

Within the state, Rockingham County has the highest annual growth rate between the two federal census. In fact, Rockingham County was the second fastest growing county in New England, exceeded only by Tolland County in Connecticut. Over the last 3 years, from 1970 to 1973, Rockingham County has grown at an annual rate of approximately 2.2%. Therefore, Hampstead's annual rate of growth far exceeds national, state and county trends.

Despite the caution with which one must approach projections, they are an essential aspect of any good planning process. Population projections can give good general indications of future size which, together with some information on population characteristics and their trends, offers an opportunity for long-range planning.

The population projections in New Hampshire with the widest general and professional subscription are those prepared in 1969 by Anderson-Nichols and Company, Incorporated for the state Public Water Supply Study. Needless to say, population projections by different people will be different.

The projections of Anderson-Nichols are as follows:

	1970	1980	1990	2000	2010	2020
Population	2401	4500	6800	9400	11,800	13,500
Growth Rate	87%	51%	38%	26%	14%

Obviously, the projections indicate rapid growth in population for the town of Hampstead. In view of our present general energy crisis, and the impact it could have over the short and long term, the above projections may be subject to some second-guessing. It is too early to see clearly the population or other impacts of our current and near term energy shortage. Neither the severity of the shortage, nor the national response is yet clear.

In spite of what might happen, Hampstead will continue to offer the same residential amenities and good location that will attract people and continue this growth at an above-average rate. This presents a real challenge to the town to manage its expansion and still maintain its charm and colonial atmosphere.

LEONARD R. CHASE, Chairman

REPORT OF SOUTHERN ROCKINGHAM REGIONAL PLANNING DISTRICT COMMISSION

The purpose of the Southern Rockingham Regional Planning District Commission is to assist local officials to plan the development of their region for present and future populations. The Southern Rockingham region includes nine towns: Hampstead, Kingston, Plaistow, Salem, Windham, Atkinson, Danville, Newton, and Sandown. The first five are member towns, and with the exception of Salem, each has two representatives to the regional commission. Salem, having a population of over 10,000 has three representatives.

The powers of the commission are advisory. The Commission works with local officials in planning and making recommendations for solving problems. Such assistance and all recommendations are made with the understanding that they can only be implemented by the towns themselves, and not by the regional commission or any other agency.

Such assistance may take the form of regional analysis of a particular problem, making recommendations on means of overcoming a problem, or both. Assistance may also include work done on a town basis for Selectmen, or, more often, Planning Boards, on development controls, master plans and the like.

The Southern Rockingham region hired a planner this year for the first time in its three year existence. This greatly increases our ability to provide member towns with planning services in response to town needs.

With respect to other 1973 activities, the regional commission has placed its primary emphasis on what can be broadly called the environment, and on local planning assistance. Rapid growth and its many effects is one of the clearest problems confronting towns in the region. That growth, its impacts and regulation have prompted much discussion on many subjects, particularly the provision of public services. How can valuable open spaces be preserved for future residents? Will it be necessary for member towns to ultimately invest in public water or wastewater disposal systems? How can towns economically dispose of their wastes without polluting ground or surface water?

The principal program emphasis has been on Environmental Quality Control Planning and on Governmental Technical Assistance. The former includes regional water and sewer planning and solid waste disposal planning. Adopted regional water and sewer plans are needed so that member towns may qualify for federal water and sewer money, and so that towns may learn the benefits and costs associated with regional water and sewer alternatives. This kind of planning is best done before the need for public water and sewer facilities is immediate.

Governmental Technical Assistance includes many of the services to member communities less regional and more local in scope: zoning, subdivision, master plan, capital budgeting, tax mapping assistance, etc. The rationale behind this part of the regional commission program is that town governments need planning assistance just as do larger city governments. Rather than having to hire a town planner, the objective is to utilize, in part, the regional commission for those traditional planning services. Some town members of the regional commission have been more aggressive at this than others. For the most part, the town responsibility for securing this kind of assistance is borne by the local planning board.

The major projects thus far planned in the Technical Assistance Section are preparing Master Plans for the towns of Hampstead and Plaistow. The Planning Boards in both these communities have indicated a particularly strong interest in preparing a comprehensive plan for development. Kingston, Newton, Salem, and Windham already have adopted Master Plans as guides for the development of their towns. One of the measures of interest in master planning by the Planning Boards in Hampstead and Plaistow is their intention to actively assist in the preparation of the town plans.

The regional commission has also actively communicated their availability to assist towns in the revision or updating of local zoning ordinances or subdivision regulations, as well as providing an access to information in developing a program for planning boards and elected officials. With the assistance of the Cooperative Extension Service, the Soil Conservation Service, the U.S. Geological Survey, the Office of Comprehensive Planning, and town conservation commissions, we are attempting to avail town officials of opportunities to improve their understanding of soil dynamics, planning law, development control powers, state or federal programs and environmental concerns. This is especially important, we feel, in view of the limited time and opportunities most town officials have to develop all information on which their decisions are based. By providing more of these opportunities, we feel we can provide a real service in improving the local decision-making process, and thereby strengthen local government.

Over the past year, there have been a number of regional planning reports prepared for the commission on the subjects of water supply and wastewater disposal, open space, transportation, housing and land use. We are currently working on an analysis of solid waste management problems and alternatives for the region which, hopefully, will result in sufficient interest to develop a regional management plan. These reports will be given to town selectmen, planning boards, and town libraries.

Additionally, the regional planning commission has been heavily involved in the state Office of Comprehensive Planning's objective to merge some of the functions of the Southern Rockingham Commission with those of two other regional planning commissions: Strafford, located in Dover, and Southeastern located in Exeter. Our objective is to make more efficient the administration of the federal grant programs which we utilize while not losing our independence and growing capacity to provide the towns in the Southern Rockingham region with the kinds of planning assistance they require.

Leonard R. Chase
Commissioner SRRPDC

BUDGET SUMMARY

The following report summarizes the School District expenses for last year, the current operating budget and the School Board's estimated budget for 1974-1975 school year. It must be taken into consideration that monies appropriated in the month of March, to be used in the following year, do not necessarily correspond in individual items, because of the impossibility of projecting the rising price indexes twelve months hence.

REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

As I prepare this report, our Hampstead elementary children and teaching staff are on the threshold of an operational year-round school program. Since its approval in March 1973, the year-round school or ESY, extended school year, has been the main concern of school authorities and, I am sure, of the families of the 525 school children who will be affected by ESY.

The change in the traditional school calendar was not hastily conceived nor, after its approval by our citizens, hastily planned. While many problems are yet to come, our staff has made extensive preparation and we feel as ready to go as is possible under the circumstances. I extend my gratitude to the staff of the Hampstead Central School for the yeoman efforts they made in the planning process.

Our biggest hurdle in adapting to our ESY program may well be coping with the change in life style that is inherent in a community with a year-round school program, but cope we must. Hampstead, because of its geographic location and its attraction as a residential community is merely among the first to face up to the need to provide alternatives to the lack of school space. Others will surely follow and the commonly accepted traditional school calendar will gradually lose its identity and with it will come new ways for the family to plan work and recreation. We hope that Hampstead may make this adjustment with a minimum of discomfort.

The problem of school construction remains a pressing one. The advent of year-round school does nothing to solve the long range need for a building program. The education of our school age group and the perpetual 5% rate of enrollment growth at the elementary level are of major concern and need to be dealt with.

In addition, the present curriculum offering for our junior high school pupils is lacking in practical and fine art programs because of lack of inappropriateness of instructional space.

Of annual importance is everyone's concern over the manner of funding public education. While Hampstead is above the state median in its ability to fund education, the low level of state support places an admittedly heavy burden on the local taxpayer, particularly those whose incomes are moderate and fixed. The school board must wrestle with its responsibilities first to the children, but also its constituency and its employees in the school system. The answers to these problems would be arrived at more easily if our state would at least improve the level of its educational funding. The national average of state support of public education is over 40%. New Hampshire's average has been below 5% in recent years and in 1972 was the lowest expenditure per capita in the United States, spending a per capita amount of $21.96 compared to a national average of $102.15.*

There are times as we work at our tasks dealing with budgets, building programs and general school organizational activities, when it seems as if our gigantic responsibility for overseeing the instruction of children receives less attention than it should. We recognize this as a danger and pledge action to divide our attention properly. We also recognize that no other society expects so much of its schools as does the American society and to that end we further pledge a maximum effort to cultivate the talents and skills of each individual and to assist in his becoming a mature, creative, competent and productive adult. We ask that you provide us with the tools to do that job.

It remains a pleasure for me and for our office staff to serve the Hampstead community.

REPORT OF THE PRINCIPAL

Starting my first year as your principal at the Central School, I believe a general statement of my thoughts and feelings will best serve to report to all concerned.

There is no doubt in my mind that a solid majority of the citizens of Hampstead are concerned about the quality and needs of education in their town. This in itself is encouraging to the educators presently working with your children.

As you know we have a number of new faculty members this year. These new members have joined with the former staff to improve and expand established programs at the school. Some of these new teachers will be leaving when we begin year-round school on February 4, 1974. The total staff at the Central School and at the Superintendent's level are deeply involved, along with your School Board, in planning for the smoothest transition possible for our students. Our feelings at this point are optimistic, and we are looking forward to a successful year-round program for the children.

I'm pleased with the enthusiasm, talent, and spirit of cooperation displayed by all staff members. They are working together to give the children the best possible education that space will allow.

We urge all interested citizens to join with us in any way you feel would be a positive contribution to the youth of Hampstead. Don't hesitate to communicate suggestions or questions to your school.
